

Cognition Description

The constructions expressing cognition are divided into Emotion, Thought, and Perception. Each of these is described separately. There is a very simple network summarising this:

